Presentation

My name is Martin Fuster, I am a Full Stack Web Developer

I am specialized at developing web apps with React, Sass, Node.js, Express.js and Firebase.

I have the desire to apply to the Full Stack Web Developer Position in an agency or a tech company focused on the constant capacitation of its employees, and also promotes personal development as a part of its philosophy.

My objective is to develop challenging web applications where I can develop new skills, while I develop my academic knowledge and practice constant capacitation and self-improvement, with the goal of progressively becoming a better prepared professional each day.

I developed an interesting portfolio of projects which are available to visualize from my website.
